INNOVATION AND CHALLENGES

Innovation

- Blending bass music with indie and pop
- Presenting the live performance in a way that is more interactive than playing a DJ set

Challenges

- Creating 20+ tracks this year and cutting down to 5
- Falling out of love with them and having to completely revamp each track

LEARNING AND PLANNING

Past

- No mix confidence
- No sound design
- Bad song structure
- Never performed

Present

- Confident mix ability
- Original sound design
- Detail oriented
- Artist identity/sound

Future

- Label Release
- Video Deliverables
- Sample Pack Release
- Learn, Grow, Adapt

The screenshot shows a Gmail interface with a yellow background. The top bar includes the Gmail logo, a search bar, and user profile icons. The left sidebar shows navigation options: Compose, Inbox (selected), Starred, Snoozed, Sent, Drafts, More, and a Wavalk folder. The main content area displays an email titled "Music Submission - Wavalk" from "Wavalk Music" received at 3:52 PM. The email body contains a message from Alex Page, a producer of trap, edm, future bass, and electronic pop music. Below this is a reply from "Jarne Eetesonne" received at 5:23 PM, addressed to Alex. Jarne's reply expresses interest in Alex's music, asks if he sings on his tracks, and mentions they are willing to make an exception for EP releases. The email concludes with "I'm looking forward to hearing from you!" and "All the best, Jarne Eetesonne". At the bottom, there is a signature for "Crown Collective" with social media links for Facebook, Soundcloud, and Instagram. A disclaimer at the very bottom states that the email may contain confidential information and that its publication or distribution is strictly prohibited.

Hey Alex,

We're really digging the vibes. Did you sing on these tracks yourself?
EPs are not something we usually release but we're willing to make an exception because we love the tracks.

I'm looking forward to hearing from you!

All the best,

Jarne Eetesonne
